Arrival

We appreciate your punctual arrival between 9:00 a.m. to 9:15 a.m. because some days we will do walks and activities around the park.

Dismissal

Our Summer Camp activities are scheduled until 2 pm. We appreciate your punctual pick-up of the children because we have other commitments after that time. We are not offering childcare after 2:00 pm. After 2:10 pm a $25 fee will be charged. Any fee charged payments must be made no later than the next morning or the student will not be able to enjoy the day of camp.

Meals

Cri-Cri Institute will not offer snacks or meals for campers. Please make sure to pack a snack and lunch for your camper. We also want to remind you that we do not have a microwave oven at the campsite, please note that we will not be able to heat lunches for the children. We suggest a light lunch. It is also important that each student bring a well identified water bottle each day. We will not provide bottles or glasses to students.

Technology

Students should not bring electronic devices (computers, tablets, cellphones, games or any other electronic device). Since we are in a public place, we need to avoid distractions. Cri-Cri Institute is not responsible for students' electronic materials.

Safety and Wellness

Cri-Cri Institute will abide by the CDC's 'Lowest Risk Guiding Principles to Keep in Mind' for 2023 summer camps. All in-person activities will be outdoors in small groups (with social distancing). Campers will have access to hand sanitizer and are also welcome to bring their own. Additionally, staff and students will have access to alcohol wipes to make sure that all shared equipment is sanitized between uses. The use of masks is optional in open spaces. According to those established by the local government of DC.

Medicines administration

It is important that medications are administered at home before bringing children to the event site. In the event that the child requires the administration of a specific medication during Summer Camp hours, it is important that this is communicated to the CRICRI staff before arrival and medication must be delivered with the written instructions. If medication is prescribed, the original bottle with the prescription and student's name must be provided to CRICRI staff.

Conflict of interest

Cri-Cri Institute is committed to respecting conflict of interest policies with other parties connected to our employees and/or founders. In this sense, personnel or founding teachers with dual-employment at other institutions or schools will not carry out activities, pro-bono or for compensation, with students from their respective institute or school, while they are bound to an alternative contract. Additionally, personnel or founding teachers with dual-employment at another institution or school will not benefit monetarily from students from their respective institute or school, while they are bound to an alternative contract.
